Among the beneficiaries, St. Stephen School expressed sincere gratitude for the smart board, which has played a crucial role in enhancing learning for students with hearing impairments who depend primarily on visual instruction.

The introduction of visual digital learning enabled students to better understand letters, songs, and classroom concepts that are otherwise difficult to communicate through sound alone. Interactive lessons helped improve comprehension, participation, and confidence among children.

NeoSmile Foundation was delighted to witness students actively engaging with every lesson through the use of this equipment. This thoughtful contribution created a meaningful and lasting impact on their overall learning experience.
